Gentlemen of the Board of Trustees,

I have two or three requests to make as follows:

First, that it be so arranged hereafter, that I shall not have more than the three regular daily recitations. Four recitations confine the professor to his room from early morning till long past twelve. It practically shuts one off from the privileges of the Library and gives no opportunity to put special work on the board. It materially damages our work.

My second request is that a room be provided in Maxwell Hall for examination of Classes. A partition might be removed between two of the rooms & thus make a room large enough.

Again we need some arrangement for printing questions for examinations. Finally, I should like to have a clock in my recitation room.

Respectfully
Amzi Atwater
