

BLOOMINGTON, IND. Jan. 1 1889.

To the President, Faculty and Board of Trustees of the Indiana University;
Gentlemen:

I
heraby pledge my honor to respect in future the property of the Indiana University, to enter the buildings at such times
only as they may be open to students and to take no part in any form of mischief or "practical joke" on the University grounds.

Very respectfully yours.

Walter D. Howe.
