

April 28. '87.

Princeton, New Jersey.

To President D. S. Jordan.

Dear Sir: Pardon

my importunity in addressing you again on the subject of our former correspondence. Not having heard from you in so long a time, leads me to fear that you have already decided your selection. At the same time there are some things in your last letter, which prevent my feeling certain on this point. As it affects somewhat my efforts and prospects in other directions, I would feel greatly obliged if you would let me know whether there is still any chance for me in your University.

Hoping I am not troubling you too much I remain very respectfully yours
Henry Orr.
