

Chemistry

Bloomington, Ind. Nov. 10, 1892.

To the President of the Faculty and Board of Trustees,
Indiana University,
Gentlemen,

Since the date of my report, the 10th ultimo, 47 applications for places in the laboratory for qualitative analysis the second term have been filed. As there are places for 44 only, unless the adjoining room is fitted up for work, several students will fail in securing places. In addition to the improvements required, I would mention the fact that Mr Davis should have a desk in the laboratory in which to keep papers and platinum ware. The heating apparatus in both laboratories is out of order and requires attention. As the water supply is limited, I suggest as a means of saving water in the laboratories the substitution of spring-faucets for those now in use.

Very respectfully yours,
Thos. C. Van Stings
