Bloomington, Indiana,
June 11- 1891-

To The President
of Indiana University:

Dear Sir,

The following is respectfully submitted to you for transmission to the Board of Trustees.

In the capacity of Associate Professor in the Department of Latin I have given instruction during the year now closing to about 80 students. There have done work as follows:

1. Forshuman work. - (1) Vergil - two terms - 13; (2) Cicero - two terms - 21; (3) Livy with Roman Antiquities - one term - 14.
2. Conditioned Forshuman work. - (1) Inductive Latin - one term - 39; (2) Caesar's Commentaries on the Gallic War - one term - 37; (3) Cicero's Orations - one term - 38.

In addition to regularly pursuing text of various authors, considerable work has been done in the way of Mythology & kindred work as well as thorough work in turning English into Latin, thus securing a practical working knowledge of Latin Grammar as well as style of expression peculiar to the language. I have taught 20 hours per week throughout entire year.

I may fairly say that the work has, in general, been well + faithfully done. Students have been earnest, attentive, + diligent. The spirit of the instruction has been to be thorough + scholarly + as far as possible secure the intellectual growth + discipline, to the promotion of which study of the classics has always been considered well adapted.

I have been absent during the year from 14 recitations, as follows: Four, on May 8th on invitation to deliver class address before the High School graduating class at Charlestown; Two, by virtue of attendance upon Philological Association at Indianapolis; Eight, occasioned by the sickness + death of our baby, May 21 + 22.

Respectfully submitted,

J. A. K. Beck,
Associate Professor
Department of Latin.
