Bloomington, Ind.

June 11 1891

To the Hon. Board of Trustees of the Indiana University.

I hereby present my resignation as Prof. of Physics in the University, the resignation to take effect at the end of this school year. Of course there are always some regrets felt in taking such a step as this, but I have carefully thought over the matter and think it best. And in retiring from the position with which you have honored me I do so with the most hearty wishes for the future of Indiana University.

Very respectfully

J. C. Taylor.
