

Bloomington

Dear Sir.

You will not perhaps be surprised that I address you, & by this title, when I inform you that Judge McDonald has just told me — what I need not repeat.

I meet your overture most cordially. Let oblivion cover the past — long past — all the past which it would be unpleasant to remember — cover it for ever.

I, indeed, must be permitted to say that wherein I blamed you, I at the same time made all allowance for your youth & ardent temperament; I never supposed you erred through want of good principles.

Well, then, let us shake hand when we next meet, and be friends; or if we should not meet, let this be instead of it.

Sincerely yours &c

Geo. Dunn Esq
