Nolan reported on the success of the Guide Service during the recent labor union convention.

Davis gave the Social Committee report, indicating that the committee thought the Terrace Dance a decided success. He then discussed the possibility of future Terrace Dances with the additional space afforded by the A, B, C and D rooms.

Rich gave a resume of the Service Award history, including recent action by the Board. Dr. Cogshall and Mr. Biddle discussed the mechanics of the plan. Rich then discussed the possibility of making the Award to the two men whose records are questionable. Mr. Biddle stated his willingness to cooperate in making the Award in any way possible. Mr. Biddle pointed out, however, that the title of the Award, The Indiana University Service Award, is too broad, that such a title implies that an award should be given to the man doing the greatest service to Indiana University regardless of Union Service Hours. Willis moved that the name be changed to Indiana University Union Service Award. Meyer 2nd. Carried. Nolan suggested that the Board make the final selection of candidates for the Award. Mr. Biddle agreed. Nolan so moved. Beko 2nd. Carried. Mr. Biddle then discussed the possibility of the Union making an award to the outstanding man student of the year after the war. Willis was instructed to consult with Dean Thornbury concerning the nine names, the list to be ready for final approval next week. The problem of reservations of judgment on the part of the Board as to candidates for the Award was discussed, clarifying the Board's responsibility in making the final selection. It was decided that publicity could be given out on the plan but not on the names of candidates until after the banquet and that a date for the banquet should be set after Rich investigated available dates etc.

Mr. Biddle expressed his intention to show the present Board the plans for the expansion of the Union Building after the war. He stated that he would appear at the next meeting with Mr. Rice, the architect, to discuss the plans for expansion. Radigan expressed the appreciation of the Board to Mr. Biddle for his presence at the meeting and for his intention to bring the post-war Union plans to the attention of the Board.

Beko moved for adjournment. Meyer 2nd. Carried
