DISCUSSION

Union Board structure

1. Inadequate choice of officers - Each year there are four junior and eight senior members on Board. When there are four sophomores appointed and selected for Board, they are usually two boys and two girls. Out of these people, often at least one person is not solely interested in the

2. Senioritis - The junior members are usually more motivated than the senior members, because the latter are no longer working for another office. More people should be motivated. (Suggestion) The Board could have six junior and six senior members. Three members would be hold-over members and three would be elected members. Because a junior member would compete with five other junior Board members for a three-man hold-over position, there would be more "gunning" during the year. (If this suggestion were passed, it would go into effect March, 1960).

There being no further Union Board business, the meeting was adjourned at 6:26 p.m.
