

I Shall Vote for THOMAS TAGGART for United States Senator — Because

HE has won honor and success through the possession of those qualities of industry, integrity, persistence and intelligence, that are everywhere recognized as marking the typical American citizen.

His views on all public questions are broad gauged and free of bigotry and intolerance. He is a Democrat but an American first of all.

His brief service in the United States Senate was in all ways dignified and worthy of the best traditions of the state. On the occasions that he spoke he talked common sense in the plain language of a straight-thinking man.

The domination of the Republican party by the small group of Senators with which James E. Watson is affiliated is a menace to the security, prosperity and peace of the nation. A vote for Mr. Taggart is a blow not only at Watson but at Penrose and all his tribe.

Mr. Taggart is one of the most successful business men in Indiana. He is an efficient man, who believes in efficient government.

He is a public spirited citizen. Through many years in which he has been constantly in the public eye he has never turned his back on a good cause that called for assistance.

His capacity for friendship is extraordinary; he is a friend and lover of mankind. Having risen from the lowest round of the ladder he thinks of the other fellow. No other citizen in Indiana at any period has enjoyed the friendship of so many people of all classes and creeds as Thomas Taggart.

Senator Watson's identification with the Republican "old guard" creates a clear issue. The progressive spirit of America is hostile to the rule-or-ruin policy of Watsonism. The Republican who votes for Taggart and against Watson is performing a service to his own party.

The eyes of the nation are on Indiana. Are we an upstanding self-governing American commonwealth, or do we return Watson to the senate and acknowledge our submission to Penrose, Crane and Company?

Assert Indiana's independence by voting for Taggart and against Big Jim!

MEREDITH NICHOLSON.
