Hail! To The Farmer Boy.

CHARLOTTE SHAFFER CRESSWELL.

Unison.

On fair Win-o - na's broad ex-panse of lands and wav-ing trees, — Where Long years a - go, the farm - er boy was tak - en as a jest. — But wave - lets lap the rug - ged shore and rip - ple in the breeze; — There, times have changed, we all should know, he needs must have the best. — The stands a coll - ege built for sons of ev' - ry clime and soil, — Who na - tion calls for sol - diers brave, her foe - men to de - stroy; — But learn no dearth of things of earth, and glo - ry in their toil. — when her wealth and health's at stake, she needs the far - mer boy. —

Then Hail! hail! to the farm - er boy, He's sure - ly in the swim, If I were a cit - y girl I'd set my cap for him. With swar - thy cheek and hand so brown he is the peer of men in town, For he'll wear an "Agg - ie" Coll - ege gown; then hail to the farm - er boy.
