

BE WATCHFUL AND BEWARE.

THE SONG OF THE GIPSY.

WRITTEN BY CHARLES JEFFERYS

COMPOSED BY CHAS. W. GLOVER.

SEEK NOT TO KNOW THE FUTURE

THE GIPSY SONG,

Words by

Music by

CHAS. JEFFERYS, CHAS. W. CLOVER.

NEW YORK, Published by FIRTH, POND & CO., 111 Franklin St.

read it in your eyes, And I can learn no more from The stars that gem the skies; Trust not the outward seeming Of all who speak you fair: What has been, Maiden, may be, Be watchful! and be-ware! Be watchful be watchful be watchful and be-ware! Be watchful be watchful be watchful and be-ware.

I will not cheat you,

Cres: Dim: p

Maiden, My Gip-sy skill you seek, This on-ly of the future The Gip-sy-girl can speak:—When flippant worldlings flatter, Let then your doubts be.....

-gin, Take, maiden, for your counsel The "still small voice with-in;" If 563

weak the heart of woman, Her stronghold too is there; Guard then the fortress, Conscience! Be watchful! and be_ware! Be watchful he watchful he watchful and be_ware! Be watchful he watchful he watchful and be_ _ware.