Music director of the Pacific Symphony for more than two decades, Carl St. Clair has become widely recognized for his musically distinguished performances, innovative approaches to programming, and commitment to outstanding educational programs. The largest ensemble formed in the United States during the last 50 years, the Pacific Symphony owes its rapid artistic growth to St. Clair's astute leadership. Influenced by his close association with Leonard Bernstein, his commitment to the development and performance of new works by American composers is evident in the wealth of commissions and recordings by the symphony. Most recently, St. Clair was named music director of the Orquesta Sinfónica Nacional de Costa Rica. Now in its seventy-fifth season, the orchestra is a well-established regional and national orchestra serving the entire country. In North America, St. Clair has conducted the Boston Symphony, Los Angeles Philharmonic, New York Philharmonic, The Philadelphia Orchestra, and the symphonies of Atlanta, Detroit, Fort Worth, Houston, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Montreal, Nashville, San Francisco, Sarasota, Seattle, Toronto, and Vancouver, among others. Worldwide engagements include numerous orchestras in Europe, South America, Israel, Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, and Japan. Festival appearances include Schleswig-Holstein, Pacific (Japan), Round Top, Breckenridge, Wintergreen (Virginia), Tanglewood, and the Texas Music Festival in Houston. St. Clair has also served as general music director and chief conductor of the German National Theater and Staatskapelle in Weimar, Germany (the first non-European to hold this position); general music director of the Komische Oper in Berlin; and principal guest conductor of the SDR/ Stuttgart, where he successfully completed a three-year recording project of the Villa-Lobos symphonies. In higher education, he has maintained a relationship with the University of Southern California (USC) Thornton School of Music for over 20 years. Since the 2005-06 season, he has been principal conductor of the USC Thornton orchestras and a faculty lecturer in conducting. In 2012, he took on the expanded role of artistic leader for the school.

Achieve dreams and goals with the help of Bloomington's strong team of local financial professionals.
