BE SURE TO GET A COPY "WHEN YOU SANG HUSH-A-BYE BABY TO ME."

After a year's persuasion, we finally induced FREDERIC KNIGHT LOGAN, the writer of the world's acknowledged biggest hit,

"MISSOURI WALTZ,"

vocal and instrumental, to write in conjunction with ABE OLMAN, the writer of the very popular, "OH JOHNNY, OH JOHNNY, OH," a paraphrase on Mr. Logan's big success. This melody was written to an exceptionally good lyric submitted to us by Jesse G. M. Glick. We predict for it a wonderful sale and we feel sure that if you will take the trouble to play over the thematic below, you will agree with us that we are not mistaken in our prediction.
